Background

Stephen “Pista” Nasser is a highly motivational speaker. He recovered from the ashes of the Holocaust, at age 13, the only survivor from a family of 21. He is an example of confidence, determination and the power of positive thinking. Stephen wrote a diary in the Auschwitz and Muhlendorf concentration camps right under the noses of the Nazis. The diary became the book, My Brother’s Voice, now in its seventh printing.

He has lectured over 330 times to audiences totaling 60,000 people, often to standing ovations. He speaks to schools, universities, churches and organizations of all types and has appeared on cruise ships and on several television and radio programs and been featured in many newspapers and magazines. Stephen connects with his audiences of all ages and treasures the nearly 6,000 letters he’s received from attendees to his presentations.
